Covad Wireless' Eric Warren to Present at Frost & Sullivan's Mobile & Wireless Enterprise 2007 Conference

San Jose, Calif. (March 6, 2007) – Eric Warren, wireless marketing director for Covad Communications Group, Inc. (AMEX: DVW), a leading national provider of integrated voice and data communications, will participate in two panels at this week's Frost & Sullivan Mobile & Wireless Enterprise 2007 Conference in Indian Wells, CA. The first panel on Wide Area Wireless takes place March 6th and will focus on mobile and wireless enterprise applications. The second panel on wireless LANs takes place March 7th and focuses on the latest trends in wireless LANs, including enterprise LAN architectures as well as metropolitan Wi-Fi and what it means to enterprise computing. Security in a public wireless mesh network will also be discussed. The Mobile & Wireless Enterprise event highlights the increasing importance of wireless in enterprise IT decision-making.

"As a leader in the fixed broadband wireless market, Covad understands the unique needs of business decision-makers and tailors its solutions to meet those needs," said Warren. "I am excited to join my peers in the industry to discuss success stories and explore the growing opportunities in this market".

Covad Wireless, formerly NextWeb, operates one of the nation's largest fixed broadband wireless networks focused on serving business customers. Its solutions range from T1 replacement to high-capacity service with data speeds of up to 100 megabits per second. Covad Wireless serves over 3500 customers in the San Francisco Bay Area, Greater Los Angeles, Chicago, and Las Vegas. For more information on Covad wireless services, visit www.nextweb.net or call 1-866-804-8475.
